

Athina Chatzianastasiou is a Biologist with expertise in techniques for investigating male infertility. She graduated from the Department of Biology at Aristotle University of Thessaloniki in 2010. Since 2011 she has worked in private companies in Thessaloniki with the specialty of the Biologist. In 2014 she completed her practical training at Embryolab and has since formally joined the Unit's laboratory team.